New South Wales
Indigenous Chamber of Commerce

“Our sponsors are widely acknowledged in all that we do at the NSW Indigenous Chamber of Commerce.”

The NSW Indigenous Chamber of Commerce (NSWICC) would welcome your enquiry to support our work in building the capacity of Indigenous Business and supporting supplier engagement.

We understand that opportunities for real engagement with Indigenous suppliers is often lost because their immediate capacity may not meet government and corporate contract requirements. This barrier is the main frustration for Indigenous business owners, companies and government agencies, which are committed to the use of Indigenous suppliers within their organisations.

By investing in the work of NSW ICC, corporations and government can gain an understanding that:

- The development of a strong and competitive Indigenous supply chain takes time, patience and appropriate resources.
- Financial and in kind contributions allocated to building the capacity of Indigenous businesses means, in the absence of immediate procurement opportunities, willing companies and government agencies can actively and positively contribute to building competitive Indigenous suppliers for their future engagements.
